Robert W. Derlet

Occupation: Physician, Professor, Author

Age:

Education and Qualifications:

Listening to the people in this district motivated me to run for Congress. Too many families, young people, and retired workers experience pain and frustration created by the growing costs of everyday living, from housing costs to groceries.

Increased healthcare costs top the list, with families paying outrageous costs for insurance, deductibles, non-covered services, and prescription drugs. I'll fight to lower healthcare costs for everyone and also offer Medicare beginning at age 55.

I'll vote to increase consumer protection to counter deceptive Wall Street practices and keep Social Security and Medicare away from Wall Street privatization.

I'll fight to keep good jobs in the USA, increase wages and benefits, support legislation to reduce the cost of education, and help small businesses succeed.

Our High Sierra forests face wildfire threats from drought and the bark beetle epidemic. I'll work to increase funding to remove dead trees and brush. I'll protect our watershed, ensure clean air and water, and also support measures to tackle global climate change.

I've worked hard all my life, beginning at age 8 delivering newspapers, then working in clerical, factory, shipping, ranching, and construction jobs. After becoming a physician, I served 18 years as Professor and Chief of the Emergency Department, UC Davis Medical Center, where I taught medical students and supervised the care of nearly 1 million patients. I've hiked thousands of miles in our district's watershed while conducting research on water quality in the High Sierra.

Tom McClintock

Occupation: United States Representative

Age:

Education and Qualifications:

America has enjoyed its greatest prosperity and happiness when it has known its greatest freedom. Our Founders created a society where we were free to make our own choices, enjoy the fruit of our own labors, take responsibility for our own decisions and lead our own lives with a minimum of governmental interference and intrusion. Government protected our fundamental rights and left us otherwise alone to live our own lives as we saw fit.

Today, a very different vision competes for our future: an all-powerful government that commands our economic decisions, micro-manages our daily lives, and consumes more and more of our earnings. In the last eight years, it has disrupted our healthcare system, shrunk our family incomes, threatened our constitutional rights, doubled our national debt, overwhelmed us with illegal immigration and placed our children in danger of becoming the first American generation to be less well off than their parents.

The election of 2016 will decide whether America becomes another failed socialist state or whether this generation of Americans revives and restores the founding American principles of individual liberty, constitutionally limited government and personal responsibility that produced the happiest, freest and most prosperous society in human history.

You sent me to Washington to fight to restore the freedom that made America great, and I am doing everything in my power to do so.

I am asking for your support to continue this fight. You can read more about my proposals at TomMcClintock.com.

Robert Carabas

Occupation: United States Representative

Age:

Education and Qualifications:

As I look around my district I am deeply concerned about the lack of opportunities for young people, which were plentiful when I was a kid. For years, like many of us, I wanted to believe that this problem would solve itself, or wasn't as bad as I thought. With the arrival of the first of five grandchildren however, I felt driven to stop talking about the issues and run for political office, to find workable solutions, and help rebuild the American Dream for everyone's children and grandchildren.

This isn't my first time in the political arena. When the infrastructure of the Berkeley Public Schools was crumbling around my children, I worked tirelessly with other parents to pass a bond measure that rebuilt every school, provided books, supplies and materials, while reducing class size. My experience as a corporate credit manager was key to crafting a measure that had parent, teacher and administrator oversight at each school, was fully funded, and was successful in improving Berkeley's public education in the short and long term.

We need to take this approach statewide. We need to focus on rebuilding infrastructure, reducing healthcare costs, and responding to the changing climate, all while creating living wage jobs so that our citizens can participate in our local economy.

And, perhaps most importantly, I will represent all voters in this fight. I refuse to take donations over $200, because special interests take care of themselves, not the children and grandchildren that we need to protect.

Frank Bigelow

Occupation: Rancher/Businessman/Assemblyman

Age: 62

Education and Qualifications:

As your Assemblyman, you've put your trust in me to protect taxpayers from Sacramento's out-of-control spending and to defend our way of life. Despite all the work we've done together, it's clear there are many problems left to solve.

That's why I'm asking for your trust to continue our fight for a stronger economy, a smaller state government, additional water storage for our communities and the quality education our children deserve.

Our region's unemployment rate remains higher than the rest of California and we simply must take action to provide economic opportunity for those who are out of work.

That opportunity starts with a strong education. That's why I supported a plan to invest in early childhood education and ensure our local schools get their fair share. And it's also why I'm supporting a proposal to help our schools build new facilities to help all our children succeed.

When it comes to strengthening our economy, I'll continue to work on policies that not only create new jobs, but also keep the ones we have from being lost to other states.

And I'll continue to be an outspoken voice to help deliver water to our communities and invest in water storage projects for the future.

I'd be honored with your trust and your vote to continue our fight for local jobs and a stronger local economy.

Occupation:

Education and Qualifications:

It has been an honor to serve on the Alpine County Unified School Board these past four years. My primary goal as a newly elected board member was to boost grade level achievement in reading and math for all students, especially for those coming from poverty backgrounds. When my term began Diamond Valley had multi-grade classrooms, a system that did not benefit all students because it impeded effectively presenting grade level curriculum to each of them. We had many students struggling and not performing to their potential. So the board has reorganized the school into single grade classrooms, and as a result our student scores are improving, showing growth at all grade levels. Additionally we are now offering music and art, and a gifted and talented program. Students have an opportunity to compete in sports with other schools, and we have ongoing tutoring in reading and math. I am very proud that in 2016 Diamond Valley School received both the Gold Ribbon School Award, and the Title I Academic Achievement Award from the State Superintendent of Schools. Our low performing students are making great progress. I am proud of this success and would love to continue this work for another term.
